Naples Symposium Expanded

STAT

Requests to attend a one-day public symposium on terrorism and Soviet aggression, scheduled Wednesday at the Naples Beach Club Hotel, have been so great that a second day has been added.

John Anson Smith, Naples resident and a member of Association of Former Intelligence Officers (AFIO), announced the extended program Wednesday.

THE SECOND day of the symposium, hosted by Smith and the AFIO and co-sponsored by the Naples Daily News and Palmer Communications, will be held April 1 at the Naples Depot. There is room for 200, but reservations are required by calling 262-6677.

Both days of the symposium will follow the same format. Two former intelligence officers will speak from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Then there will be a break for lunch. Two other speakers will address the public in the afternoon.

Lt. Gen. Eugene F. Tighe, a retired director of the U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency, and W. Raymond Wannall, retired assistant director of the FBI, will speak in the morning.

John M. Maury, a 28-year veteran of the CIA, and David Atlee Phillips, past chief of the CIA's Latin American and Caribbean operations, will speak in the afternoon.

All four speakers are to conclude the symposium each day with a question-and-answer period.
